

Shriya Gupta

+91-9311050205 | 9shriyag@email.com | LinkedIn | GitHub | Coding Platforms

EDUCATION

|                                                                                                                                             |                                   |
|---------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|-----------------------------------|
| National Institute of Technology, DelhiB.Tech in Civil EngineeringMinor Degree in Artificial Intelligence & Machine Learning | Aug 2023 – Aug 2027CGPA - 7.3 |
|---------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|-----------------------------------|

EXPERIENCE

|                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                            |                       |
|------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|-----------------------|
| Rajshri Buildcon – Frontend Developer Intern, RemoteRedesigned 5+ responsive web pages based on client UI/UX requirements , focusing on visual hierarchy , intuitive navigation, and interactive experiences using CSS3 and JavaScript (ES6+) .Optimized client-side scripts and leveraged browser <code>localStorage</code> to enhance website performance, reducing mobile page load times by 35% and improving overall user experience. | June 2026 – July 2026 |
|------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|-----------------------|

PROJECTS

|                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                               |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                             |
|-----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|---------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Docora – AI-Powered PDF Question Answering Platform  Tech Stack - Next.js, Convex, RAG, Vector Search, OCR, LLMs  Architected an end-to-end RAG pipeline using OCR , vector embeddings , and intelligent chunking to parse digital and scanned PDFs, ensuring 100% context-grounded AI responses.Engineered parallel multi-model inference across 3 LLMs (Google Gemini, Groq, Llama), executing concurrent API requests to serve the fastest response and maximize system availability.Developed a Next.js &amp; Convex full-stack workspace processing 100+ page documents, integrating an interactive PDF viewer with live editing, highlighting, and secure payment webhooks . |  Docora    Preview                                                                                                    |
| SocioGen – Social Media Content Generator  Tech Stack - React.js, FastAPI, PostgreSQL, LangChain, OpenAI GPT  Developed a full-stack application using React.js and FastAPI , leveraging LangChain and OpenAI GPT to automate tailored, platform-specific posts for LinkedIn, Twitter, and Instagram.Engineered a PostgreSQL backend for user data and structured LLM querying pipelines with response caching, reducing API costs and output latency by 30% .                                                                                                                                                                                                                                              |  SocioGen    Preview                                                                                                  |
| PacMan &amp; Tetris Game – Arcade Engine in Python  Tech Stack - Python, Pygame  Engineered a dual arcade game suite using Python and Pygame , applying OOP across 15+ classes , 2D grid arrays, and matrix rotation algorithms to achieve seamless 60 FPS rendering.Developed adaptive PacMan entity AI using dynamic pathfinding and coordinate geometry, optimizing event-driven game loops and reducing state-logic latency by 25% .                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                           |  PacMan    Tetris    Preview |

TECHNICAL SKILLS

|                              |                                                                                                                                                                                       |
|------------------------------|---------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Languages:            | C, C++, Python, Java                                                                                                                                                                  |
| Concepts:             | Data Structures & Algorithms, Competitive Programming, Problem Solving, Object-Oriented Programming, Operating Systems, Computer Networks, System Design, Database Management Systems |
| AI &amp; ML:          | Machine Learning, Generative AI, Large Language Models, Retrieval-Augmented Generation                                                                                                |
| Web &amp; Frameworks: | HTML, JavaScript, MERN Stack (React.js, Node.js), Tailwind CSS, RESTful APIs                                                                                                          |
| Tools:                | Pygame, Raylib, Scikit-learn, Git, GitHub, UI/UX Design                                                                                                                               |

COMPETITIVE PROGRAMMING

|                                                                                              |                                                                                         |
|----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|-----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| LeetCode (@DevilishAxis09)Rating: 1800+ (Top 7.76%)   Solved: 1080+ | Codeforces (@DevilishAxis)Rating: 1610 (Expert) Solved: 310+   |
| Codolio (@DevilishAxis)Institute Rank: 3 Solved: 1750+              | GeeksForGeeks (@passionate24ee)Institute Rank: 12 Solved: 300+ |

ACHIEVEMENTS & PARTICIPATION

Selected for Amazon ML Summer School 2025 from 3,00,000+ applicants.
Cisco Campus Ambassador – Selected as a campus ambassador for Cisco, representing the organization at NIT Delhi.
Achieved Global Rank 3,000 out of 13,000+ participants in IICPC CodeFest 2026 Global – Prelims Round.
Runner-up in Winter of Code 2025 for Brainpunk, hosted by Google Developer Groups.
Secured Rank 998 out of 35,000+ participants in CodeCraft 26, while gaining +55 rating points in Codeforces Round 1091 (Div. 2).